Bringing Gourmet Home

A designer delves into creating a restaurant-quality kitchen

JUST BECAUSE GOING OUT TO EAT isn't an option doesn't mean Michelin-starred food is off the table. To Baton Rouge-based interior designer Arianne Bellizaire, it should be simple to inspire clients' creative hand in their own kitchens. The designer, who has been named a 2015 High Point Market Authority Style Spotter and a Modenus DesignHound and has had her work featured in national publications, shared her top products for designing a gourmet kitchen experience at home.

↑ Signature Kitchen Suite 48-In. Dual-Fuel Pro Range: "SKS is focused on creating products for the 'technicurean' (the technologically savvy food aficionado), so it's no surprise that their range is a must-have in the home gourmet kitchen. This range features a built-in sous vide as well as an induction cooktop."

← Cosentino Dekton Ultra-Thin 4mm: "The thickness of this highly durable, stain-resistant material means that you cannot only cover the countertops and backsplashes with it, but you can also wrap cabinet doors and drawers with it as well!" Shown here: Dekton Helena

↑ Zephyr Lift Downdraft: "This luxury system allows you to properly vent the island cooktop while also providing extra lighting and a stylish profile."

← JasonWu for Brizo SmartTouch Pull-Down Prep Faucet with Square Spout: "This touch-sensitive faucet makes clean-up while prepping and cleaning a breeze, and it features a trend-setting white finish."

← Jenn-Air Column Refrigerator with Daring Obsidian Interior: "Bring the ultimate food-shopping experience into the home as this column refrigerator and freezer preserve and display fresh fruits, vegetables and meats."

↑ Dacor 24-In. Integrated Warming Drawer: "This professional-grade warming drawer blends seamlessly into your kitchen cabinetry while giving you the ability to control time, temperature and humidity."

↑ Monogram 30-In. Smart Hearth Oven: "No need to order out for pizza. This hearth oven makes pizza so authentic you'd swear it came from a brick oven!"

↑ Julien SmartStation: "I have this sink in my kitchen, and I absolutely love that it is the perfect prep space for our family meals."

↑ Thermador Built-in Coffee Machine: "This sleek appliance brings the coffee shop experience right into the home with the ability to customize and program the perfect drink!"

A legacy of redefining expectations.
